

Rachel

Rachel was admitted to the hospital after being sexually assaulted.

During her stay, a For All Seasons Rape Crisis Center advocate arrived to support her through the medical exam. The advocate provided her with a 'comfort kit' that included sweatpants and sweatshirt, undergarments, a journal, toiletries, a stuffed animal and a hand-knitted scarf with a note of encouragement. The bag also contained a folder with information about For All Seasons and her options to report the incident to law enforcement. After being discharged from the hospital, a therapist was provided to help her make sense of all that had happened to her. Two years later, Rachel is still in treatment, but credits her advocate and therapist with saving her life. Day by day, with their help, she is healing from this trauma she endured. Call if you just want to talk—it's never too late.
